ESRI® ArcGIS Pro

ArcGIS Pro Licenses

The three licensing options available with ArcGIS Pro through the ELA Program are listed below. Please use the ArcGIS Pro Order Form to make your selection. (includes 3D Analyst, Geostatistical Analyst, Network Analyst, Spatial Analyst and Publisher)

Named User License
The ArcGIS Pro license is assigned to individual users within Portal for ArcGIS by an organization administrator. Please indicate the number of licenses needed and the hostname, port, and MAC address of the server hosting your Portal for ArcGIS software.

Concurrent Use License
Your machine points to a License Manager Server for license authorization from a shared pool of licenses.

Single Use License
These licenses are authorized on a single machine. Anyone with access to that machine can use ArcGIS Pro on or off the network.

Portal for ArcGIS

Part No.	Product Description (descriptions of these products can be found at www.esri.com)
POR001	Portal for ArcGIS

Portal for ArcGIS software requires Enterprise Server Advanced. There are two types of Portal seats available. You may have all of one seat type or a combination of both. Please indicate on your software order form which type(s) and the number of Portal seats you are requesting.

Viewer—Viewers can view items that are shared with them by other Portal for ArcGIS users. This user type is ideal for members of an organization who need to view Portal for ArcGIS content in a secure environment. Viewers can't create, edit, share, or perform analysis on items or data. This user type includes the Essential Apps Bundle.

Creator—Creators have all the capabilities of the Viewer user type, plus the ability to create content, administer the organization, and share content for use in Essential Apps, Field Apps, and Office Apps. The Creator user type is designed for those who need to create web maps and apps, perform in-depth spatial analysis using the analysis tools in the portal, and work with data using field apps such as ArcGIS Collector. This user type includes the Essential Apps, Field Apps, and Office Apps bundles.

Products Limited Under the ELA

ArcGIS Online (AGOL) BIA Access

New users are encouraged to contact their Regional Geospatial Coordinator (RGC) to obtain access to ArcGIS Enterprise Portal.

Approved BIA staff may use AGOL and all its capabilities. You must assure that data stored or used in AGOL are at the FISMA "low" level (no personally identifiable information, no licensed or otherwise protected or sensitive data, etc.). The BIA Organizational Account sits on the ESRI cloud via Amazon. Due to the issues of FISMA compliance and data sitting on a cloud service outside of the BIA's trust network, only data that is currently available publicly will be allowed to be hosted on the account. Trust data, PII and anything that is sensitive in nature according to the BIA will not be hosted on AGOL and will not be posted by the users within the organization. Please contact the Geospatial Support Help Desk at 1-405-230-0480 or at geospatial@bia.gov.

Products Not Available Under the ELA

ArcGIS Online (AGOL) Tribal Access

1. Individuals may be able to gain access to ArcGIS Online (AGOL) through the National Tribal Geographic Information Support Center (NTGISC) also known as Tribal GIS®. AGOL access is available to members of NTGISC, membership is available at no cost for Tribal employees. This access is made possible through NTGISC's independent ELA and agreements with Esri. AGOL accounts obtained through NTGISC will be slightly limited in comparison to full ArcGIS Online subscriptions per the terms set forth by NTGISC & Esri. Please contact NTGISC at www.tribalgis.com 918-937-4487, or email gcouch@tribalgis.com for more information.

2. An ArcGIS Public Account with limited AGOL usage and capabilities is available for free through ESRI. With a free public account from ESRI, you can create, store and manage maps, scenes, layers, and apps, and share them with others. Please go to https://www.arcgis.com/home/signin.html to create a public account.

3. If you require full capabilities of ArcGIS Online and would like to purchase your own AGOL organization license/subscription, please contact Federal_Sales@esri.com. Please mention you are part of the Enterprise License Agreement with the BIA.
